How To Succeed'...

First Play Of Season Draws Full House

By Dona Gregory
Society Editor

How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" succeeded every sense of the word when it was opened in the Concert Hall Wednesday evening.

Playing before a sold out house, 4 members sang, shouted and danced their way to the top of the order of success.

IN A HURRY!

Norman Birdsell, playing J. Pierpont Finch, the young man in a hurry to reach the top, succeeded in winning the audience with his bold grin each time he crept another rung.

Samara Fowler, portraying Rosemary Pilkington, an ambitious marketing secretary, falls for Finch and succeeds in swiping his unsuspecting heart. The petite Miss Fowler also succeeded in capturing the hearts of the audience with an unmatched professional performance.

Choreography was beautifully done by Ellen Davis. The orchestra, directed by Richard Ballou is probably one of the finest ever heard at the BYU campus.

STUPID?

Kathleen Stringham, as Hedy Lamarr, the dumb blonde who is smart enough to catch the president of the board of directors, brought down the house on more than one occasion, and succeeded in giving a performance that won't soon be forgotten!

Costumes left something to be desired. Lack of color and warmth was strikingly obvious in comparison with the huge colorful set, and enthusiasm of the cast.

EXCELLENT CAST

The entire cast demonstrated amazing agility, especially in overcoming such obstacles as poor lighting and lack of proper sound equipment.

Carol Anne Schuster and Jerry Elison almost made a Mat Dillon and Chester combination as Carol played the office "brick" and Jerry limped along as the perpetual office "grasper."

BIG BOSS

Scott Whistaker portrayed J. B. Bigley, big boss of the World Wide Wickett Company. He successfully squirms and whines his way out of several tight situations. His task proves to be a mighty one, as his head is bigger than his position.

The musical comedy's last performance will be Monday evening at 8:15 p.m. in the Concert Hall.

League-Leading Y Cagers Face Showdown With Utes

By Dennis Reed
Assistant Sports Editor

The second exciting episode of General Watts and the Indians takes place tonight when the BYU Cougars hope to surprise Utah's Redskins in their own Einar Nielson Fieldhouse.

The game will be televised on Channel 2, KUTV. Air time is 8 p.m.

The guess is tonight's battle will resemble an instant replay of last week's thriller, won by the Cougars, 64-62. But whether or not Ute Coach Jack Gardner will elect to play stop-action ball remains to be seen.

PUMAS PACE RACE

Coach Stan Watts and his Provo cage squad now hold a substantial lead in the race for the Western Athletic Conference crown with three road encounters to go. With a 5-0 record in conference play, the Cougars can drop one road game and not lose their first place position.

The Redskins, on the other hand, must win if they hope to remain in contention.

Key man in the Cougar attack last week was Karl Limpo. Despite the Utes' slow-down tactics, he consistently broke through for the needed points, ending up with a total of 23. The question for Gardner! How to stop Limpo?

High point man for the Utes and sure to be a worry for Watts is Mervin Jackson. The "Magician," as he is referred to, collected 29 points in last week's losing effort.

The Watts strategy no doubt includes plans for stopping Jackson.

At stake in the long-standing rivalry is a bell donated in 1950 by the Union Pacific Railroad Co., as a symbol of basketball supremacy between the two schools. The bell hasn't left the BYU campus in three years.

Another prize up for grabs is a pair of Florsheim Imperials which will go to the winning coach. The shoes, donated by Al Holman's Shoe Shop in Salt Lake City, have gone to Coach Stan Watts the last three years.

Both teams should be at full strength for tonight's game. Jim Jimas, bothered with an eye injury in recent weeks, has recovered and the Utes are expected to be over their various illnesses.

Model UN Assembly To Air World Problems

Current world problems will be discussed Saturday in a mock United Nations General Assembly from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Wilkinson Center Ballroom.

Ned Reynolds will be chairman of the event, which will involve students from several Utah colleges. Foreign students are especially encouraged to attend and voice their opinions. Spectators are welcome.

Some of the questions scheduled for discussion include Vietnam, the Israeli-Arab dispute, Red China, and Southern Rhodesia. The MUN is sponsored by the Model United Nations Committee of the Office of Academics.

Applications to participate in the event and information is available in the Student Academic Office, 434 Wilkinson Center. A banquet will be held for participants at 12 noon with February Professor of the Month Russel Horuuchi as featured speaker.

Weekly MUN meetings are also held, which include discussion and debate. Members are preparing for a far West MUN meet in Portland Ore.

BYU's musical comedy, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" displays the largest and most spectacular sets ever designed and built on the Concert Hall stage.

Max Golightly directs the show which has the longest name of any musical comedy ever written.

Vietnam War Over In 1968

Journalist Tells Y Students

By Marie Spencer
Universe Staff Writer

The war in Vietnam should be over by 1968, Dr. Middleton of the New York Times told BYU students in a question and answer period Thursday. This followed his address in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Mr. Middleton of the Democrats will probably maintain office in the 1968 Presidential election.

Mr. Middleton pointed out in his address at the Forum Assembly one of the great changes in international life today is the change in the attitude of Western Europe toward the United States.

This change has been brought about by European economic apprehension toward high business complexes and technological superiority of the U.S. Mr. Middleton explained Europe is afraid U.S. political policy will direct it into paths it doesn't want to take.

During his address Mr. Middleton told the student body, "Europe no longer regards the U.S. as the only land of great opportunity." However, he said Western Europe is not anti-American.

FEAR OF U.S.

Mr. Middleton added the European fear of U.S. influx of commercial enterprise is at its peak in France. He said this is evident in regards to De Gaulle's attitude toward NATO.

Mr. Middleton ended by saying the U.S. should accept Europe's change of opinion and accept them as an ally. "The future belongs to the U.S. and Western Europe. We believe fundamentally in the same objectives," the journalist said.

Congressman To Address Democrats in Salt Lake

Democrat Congressman Andrew Jacobs, Jr., of Indiana will be the featured speaker Saturday, at the annual National Committee Meeting of the Young Democratic Clubs of America (YDCA) in Salt Lake City.

Jacobs represents the 11th District of Indiana, in which Indianapolis is located.

He was first elected to the 89th Congress on Nov. 3, 1964, and served on the Judiciary Committee. He was re-elected to the 90th Congress on Nov. 8, 1966, and continues to serve on the Judiciary Committee as well as occupy a seat on the District of Columbia Committee.

Jacobs won election to the Indiana House of Representatives in 1958 and served in the 1959 session of the General Assembly.

EX MARINE

He served on active duty with the U.S. Marine Corps from 1950 to 1953 and was an enlisted combat infantryman with the 1st Marine Division in Korea in 1951.

He received his B.S. degree from Indiana University in 1955 and his L.L.B. degree for I. U. in 1958. Since 1958, he has been a practicing attorney and is a member of the Indianapolis Bar Association.

MEETING IN HOTEL UTAH
The National Committee meeting will be held Friday through Sunday at the Hotel Utah in Salt Lake City.

The YDCA National Committee is composed of the State Young Democrats Club President, committee-man and committeewoman. The National Committee is the major governing body of the YDCA.

Also, appearing before the 3 day conference will be Senator Frank Moss and Governor Calvin Rampton, both of Utah.

The Young Democratic Club of America is the official youth affiliate of the Democratic Party with over a million members in all fifty states, the District of Columbia and the territories.

Hitler's Power In Film

By Ron Barker
Universe Movie Critic

"Triumph of the Will," one of the best examples of the use of the film media for propaganda purposes, is showing at the University Cinema today and tomorrow.

A documentary of Adolph Hitler's rise to power, the film, under the direction of Leni Riefenstahl, depicts the events of the Nazi Party's 8th Annual Party Congress in Nuremberg, 1934.

The almost unbelievable frenzy, the wild adulation shown Hitler upon his entry into the city and during following demonstrations, is depicted in an almost hypnotic way, thus increasing its effect as a propaganda film.

The documentary has very little dialogue, but the English subtitles convey the words of Nazi Germany's leaders to the viewer. Even with the sparse dialogue, one does not miss the point Hitler meant to get across when he commissioned the film. Nazi Germany, he would have us believe, is a country of

by Jaron Summers
Managing Editor

Charles de Gaulle is a hard-core Nazi.

Few people know this, but a friend of mine from student government has done some original research and come up with the startling conclusion.

Apparently just before Hitler died, he said to his most trusted aide (who was Charles de Gaulle). "It looks like we're beat but let's make the Americans regret what they did."

Charles de Gaulle said he would do his best and Hitler handed him a fat envelope with the words "Open Me First" on it. Hitler expired and Charles slipped silently away from the allies via a secret tunnel.

Nothing was heard of Charles for about five years until a man called Stalin told the world the Russians had discovered a new country between Germany and Spain. Sure enough when the world checked there was a country and the man who had set himself up as head of it was Charles de Gaulle.

RIGHT ON TARGET

Hitler's plan was right on target and in no time most of the world states included France on the maps of Europe.

The U.S. tried to start a rumor that France was discovered by an American; however, everyone was occupied with a post-war boom and nothing much came of the rumor —much to the disappointment of Hack Miller who said his nephew led the first successful expedition into central France.

In the confusion no one bothered to find out why France was called France and to this very day it still remains a mystery.

One thing does not remain a mystery and that is the original plan of Hitler to make the Americans suffer. In his letter to Charles, Hitler outlined a devilish plot to frustrate and possibly destroy Americans. The plan was to have Charles invent a new language and foist it off on innocent Americans. Charles outdid himself when he dreamed up the language. Some say he was taking LSD at the time—and several other authorities are quite certain that he was sniffing glue.

As already stated, the U.S. felt badly that she did not have claim to discovering France so—as Hitler planned—America decided to do the next best thing. Namely aid France with her problems. Of course this is where the fun started, for before the U.S.A. could help France, Americans first had to understand the French language.

A group of American linguists were sent over there and they reported the French language was most complicated and seemed to be made up of a mixture of German English and Chinese. (This was not at all surprising because Charles spoke the first two well and had once been engaged to a beautiful Oriental girl.)

STAY AWAY

Linguists said French would be impossible to learn and advised Americans to stay away from France, but a group of senators wanted to visit the new country and they told the linguists to hush-up. Before long French ers had infiltrated the U.S.

Despite the Young Republicans for Freedom, the John Birchers and the Orem Police, French teachers made it to BYU. These teachers represent the greatest threat to this campus since the stomp.

This is why: French classes have no reason to them. The first step of an English language-Lab-card-carrying teachers had infiltrated the U.S.

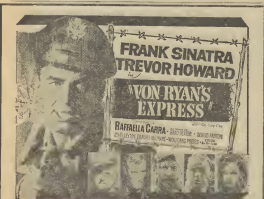

This might be good on some campuses but it could lead to a terrible image for BYU.

French teachers try to take away inhibitions because they force kids to make the weirdest noises imaginable under the guise of teaching them a foreign language. Most French sounds are made by taking through the nose and pressing the tongue against the back of the throat. Anyone knows that this exercise will, at very least, cause most people to swallow their tongues and choke to death. And there is no better way for a person to completely lose his inhibitions.

Furthermore, French is a bad language because it teaches students how to read French literature which is just too risky to comment on further. A fine point of speaking French is that one picks up the habit of gesturing with his hands—which can lead to fights and beatings.

Maybe if we turned en masse on BYU French teachers there would be some hope—but I'm afraid no one will take this warning seriously.

Yes, I hate to say it but I think the French have infiltrated this country beyond salvage. Maybe it's not so bad though—there are a few consolation prizes. Like Brigitte Bardot.

Testimony Of Wife Could Be Unfavorable To Powell

Washington (UPI)—Mrs. Adam Powell testified Thursday she performed no work during the 18 months she was employed $30,000-a-year member of her husband's congressional staff. But she pleaded that he be back his House seat.

"I know my testimony may be viewed as adverse to my husband," she told a select committee hearing Powell's fitness to continue in the service of his country.

A brief statement delivered at the end of her testimony, the soft-spoken Mrs. Powell told the committee she knew it would be fair in its judgment.

"I hope your report will be favorable," she concluded.

The special nine-man panel is under orders to recommend to the House by Feb. 23 whether the controversial Harlem Democrat should be restored to the House seat from which he was ousted—at least temporarily—on Jan. 10.

Speaking in a soft, spanish-accented voice, Yvette Marjorie Flores Powell testified that beginning in 1961 she handled mail and other office chores for Powell at her office in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

But she said she had done no work at all for him since the summer of 1965. And she said she had neither seen nor talked to her husband since September, 1965.

ONLY TWO CHECKS

The only checks she received during the entire five-year period, she said, were the last two just before she was fired by House officials late last year. The action was taken on grounds that her employment violated a law requiring that congressional staff members work either in Washington or in the member's home state.

"To the best of your knowledge were the (other) checks received and deposited by your husband?" asked committee counsel William Goughan.

"I think so," she replied. "What did you think was happening to your congressional pay?" she was asked.

"I thought he was getting it or something. But I could not tell for sure. After we were married, he said he would take care of all the finances."

Campus Paper Censored By Administration

Evanson, Ill. (UPI) — Northwestern University officials have ordered a review of the reporting policies of the campus newspaper, Daily Northwestern, the publication reported.

In a story under the byline of the three-member Editorial Board, the Daily said 40 faculty members voted last Thursday to "go on record with a statement of discontent" over the paper "as a vehicle for important and official news."

Daily Editor Joan Schuman said the faculty action and subsequent review of the newspaper ordered by a dean "indicates that few people here have a proper idea of what a newspaper should be. It's not a bulletin board for the administration."

Robert R. Strotz, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, told Associate Dean Richard J. Doney Monday to collect samples of how the Daily failed to report items the faculty or administration considered important.

Some members of the Northwestern College of Arts and Sciences said dissatisfaction with the Daily was caused by the paper's not printing enough news about faculty speeches and accomplishments, lectures, available opportunities such as scholarships and "official" administration statements, the story said.

The story said that Doney suggested the administration has assumed "perhaps erroneously" that the Daily was the official means of communicating with students.

It was the second case in a week of a Big Ten university newspaper being investigated by higher authorities.

In the same issue the Daily, published by the Student's Publishing Co., Inc., of Northwestern University, said in an editorial on the faculty action, "this is a clear abdication of student free speech."

If you tell students what they have to do, then, given a newspaper of a certain size, it means you're telling them what they can't print."

Winds Strike Midwest Now Disrupts Travel

Ice-busting winds whipped the West and East with gusts of once force Thursday, wreaking property damage. Knee-deep snows and a treacherous slush of ice hobbled the Great Lakes states.

Mercury forced temperatures to 38 below zero in the upper east. A cold wave rode the winds over the Appalachians routed a premature bid of spring at the Atlantic Seaboard. New snowstorm boiled up in the north, while the storm that up to 20 inches of snow on northern Michigan was still lashing the Great Lakes.

WINDS WREAK HAVOC

Hundreds of communities from Mississippi Valley to New England, violent winds played havoc. Power lines, wrecked homes, flooded buildings and toppled trees and towers.

In the range up to 82 miles an hour in Buffalo, N.Y., 80 m.p.h. at Erie, Pa., and 70 miles an hour in Ohio. Wind warnings were hoisted in most of the Northeast.

Winds destroyed five planes and damaged two hangers at an airport in Beaver Falls, Pa. Six planes were blown from their moorings at Allegheny County airport near Pittsburgh.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Two nuns were rescued unharmed after they were buried in wreckage when 60 m.p.h. winds toppled a chimney through the roof of a convent at Fort Wayne, Ind. One, Sister Pauline, said "it was a real miracle—providential."

Power failures plagued scores of communities. Thousands of homes in the Chicago area, an estimated 5,000 in Cleveland, another 5,000 in Detroit suburbs, 1,000 at Indianapolis and 600 at Iowa City, Iowa, were temporarily without lights.

The Weather Bureau reported snowfall up to 20 inches in northern Michigan and 8 to 10 inch snow across a belt from the Dakotas to upstate New York. Hundreds of schools closed.

Consumers Need Protection

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson Thursday proposed a program to protect the consumer from fraudulent money-lending practices, substandard medical tests, and mass-power blackouts.

In a special message to Congress, the President outlined 10 legislative proposals and urged legislators also to examine the reliability of the national credit rating system.

The President said the Federal Power Commission was completing its report on the Northeast and promised to recommend legislation on this subject later.

Johnson began his message with a proposed Truth-in-Lending Act which would require that the cost of borrowing products on credit be stated "fully, simply and clearly" and would guard against unfair gimmickry.

Besides the credit and clinics proposals, Johnson made these eight specific recommendations:

—An interstate Lands Sales Full Disclosure Act to require developers in commerce to disclose fully the material facts of their land offerings.

—A Welfare and Pension Plan Protection Act to ensure reliable audits and responsible administration of welfare and pension plans.

—A Medical Device Safety Act to protect against the use of hazardous or ineffective devices in medical treatment.

—A Wholesome Meat Act to improve the "wholesomeness of our total meat supply."

—Establishment of a national commission on product safety.

—A Flammable Fabrics Act.

—A Fire Safety Act to provide for research and education in fire safety.

—A Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act to heighten the safety of pipelines which carry the highly flammable gas under high pressure.

ATHLETES' FOOTNOTES

Don't Lose
Your Headsby Gary Wood
Sports Editor

Once again the University of Utah Daily Chronicle sports desk has proved that—at least at the Salt Lake City institution—athletic inferiority and frustration inspire journalistic tastelessness and downright drivel.

Sports fans of both schools are well aware of the failures of the U of U athletes in the 1960's—especially against Brigham Young University teams—yet the Daily Chronicle continues to attempt to rectify with juvenile phraseology such failings.

It is an accepted axiom among journalists that sports writers be allowed to take a few liberties that are taboo in regular news stories. But it's our guess that if any practicing newspapermen would condone reference to a fine young athlete like Kari Linn as "the Helsinki Fink."

Why the Daily Chronicle sportswriters can't be content to write about sports and do it objectively is a question about which we can only conjecture.

"CRIMSON COMMENTS"

Alongside the Chrony write-up of last week's basketball thriller between the two old rivals was something called "Crimson Comments," which is a pretty fitting title for a sophomoric piece of editorial indiscretion.

Disregarding comment on the game itself, the authors who evidently wasn't very pleased with the tasteless outpouring because he left it unsigned—tells us that the "nauseating" pre-game speech by President Ernest L. Wilkinson, called "Warmup with Wilkie" by the disrespectful intruders, caused Ute fans to "throw up" their "orange drinks."

MICKY MOUSE

After proceeding to knock our admittedly high schoolish yells and banners, the anonymous writer finally gets around to this Mickey Mouse paragraph:

"Utah lost its fourth game with two points of the victor and put up a tremendous fight against one of the greatest home court advantages in the nation. But this Friday, BYU must come to Salt Lake City to meet the Utes in Einar Nielson Fieldhouse. Gome will be Wilkie, the stupid signs, and that ridiculous Cougar (who should be lynched if he does come). There is no sense degrading their basketball team as was ours (sic), but the important thing will be to cheer the Utes on like they have never been before. This group has come a long way since the season opening, and a victory this Friday against the Cal eagles means more than anything to their right now. So get over to Einar Nielson Fieldhouse early Friday, and when and if you get in to see the game, cheer your heads off for Jack Gardner and his Runnin' Redskins."

Rah, Rah, Rah. But don't let your vehemence cause you to completely lose your heads.

Such anxiety is understandable, friends, after so many athletic defeats.

But our gratis suggestion to our fellow Chrony "journalists": don't let failure go to your head.

P.S. Did Mr. Unknown say "Runnin' Redskins?"

BYU Hockey Squad Formed

The BYU Canucks, a team of Canadian ice hockey players attending BYU, will play their second game of the season Friday, Feb. 28, against a squad from Calgary, Alberta.

A second game will be played Saturday afternoon, Feb. 25, with area Boy Scouts scheduled to be admitted at a reduced price.

The Friday evening game, to be played at the Winter Garden's Ice Arena in north Provo, will pit the Canucks against the Mount Royal College Cougars from Calgary.

Among players on the BYU team are Leigh Bannister, Cam Kerr, Bryan Bogen, Jack Macrae, Don McCrindle and Coach Ken Bray. Earlier in the season, the Canucks clobbered an All-Star team from Denver, 16-5.

NOT THIS WAY

TUCSON, ARIZ. (UPI)—Back field coach Walt Weaver opened spring football training at the University of Arizona Tuesday with an "agility" drill.

Not as agile as he used to be, Weaver lost two teeth in the drill.

Frosh Shoot For Eighth Straight Win

by John Aggar
Universe Sportswriter

Brigham Young University's freshman basketball team will journey to Salt Lake tonight in an attempt to complete a two-game sweep of the University of Utah frosh.

The Klittens will also be going after their eighth straight win and ninth overall victory. An overtime loss to the unbeaten College of Eastern Utah is the only blemish on an otherwise perfect record for Coach Gary Earnest's crew.

Von Jacobson, from San Diego, California, is currently leading the Klittens scoring attack. The 6-4 guard is averaging 13 points per game while pulling down an average of six rebounds per contest.

HUSTLING HOWARD

The other guard, Doug Howard from Salt Lake City, is right behind Jake in scoring with an average of over 16 points per game. The 6' 2" playmaker has been instrumental in leading the potent Cougar fast break this year.

Fred McEuen from Mandeville, center position. The durable postman is averaging 10 points per game and seven rebounds.

The most productive member of the forward line is Gary Schneider from San Diego, California. Standing at 6' 6", he is the team's leading rebounder and the second-leading scorer.

Bob Davis, at the other forward position, is averaging 16 points per game. The Long Beach, California, native has also been averaging nine rebounds per contest and has been hitting 75% of his free throws.

KEEPING TRADITION

This Cougar frosh team is keeping up the tradition set by previous freshman teams at BYU. The Klittens are averaging over 100 points per game, but will be hard pressed to keep up the high scoring average if the Papooses slow the game action as they did last week.

Next weekend the BYU frosh will begin an extended road trip which will include games with Weber State's frosh plus Dixie College at St. George, Utah.

A win over the Weber State team would give the Klittens the mythical frosh state championship for the second consecutive year and would mark the third time in the last four years that the Klittens have dominated freshman basketball in Utah.

COED SPORTS DAY

Four BYU women's extra-curricular will participate Saturday in a sports day at the University of New Mexico. The BYU coeds will enter one team each in swimming and gymnastics competition, and two teams in basketball.

Women athletes from eight states will attend the meet, in which BYU teams took first place in basketball and gymnastics and a fifth in swimming last year.

Clear Windows Urged

1st Home Meets...

Matmen Host Devils, 'Pokes

By Glen Willardson
Universe Sportswriter

A grueling 72-hour marathon of wrestling began last night (or Brigham Young's grapplers.

Coach Fred Davis' team met the University of Utah on the Redskins' last night, and returned home today for meets with Arizona State tonight and Wyoming Saturday night. Both meets will be held in the Smith Fieldhouse at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free with an activity card.

The weekend's slate matches the top teams in the conference and should be some indication of the outcome in the WAC championships in Tempe March 10-11. They'll also be the last home meets the Cougars this season.

WYOMING TOUGH

Wyoming, picked by pre-season prognosticators to win the conference, is currently riding on a 2 record and is ranked tenth nationally among the major colleges.

BYU was ranked seventh nationally before dropping a meet with Utah State Feb. 2. The Cougars are now in the 14th position. The match between the Cowboys and BYU will be a spectator's delight and a large crowd is anticipated for the event. The Cowboys have a balanced team from the 115-lb. weight through heavyweight. In Thompson, Wyoming's heavyweight, is a prospective NCAA champion and is undefeated this year.

NORTON UNDEFEATED
In tonight's meeting with Arizona State, the Cougars will put John Norton's unblemished record in the 167-lb. division to the test. Norton, a sophomore, is undefeated in 13 matches.

Siege Epperson (160-lb.) and Jeff Batchelor (130-lb.) will also be strong contenders for BYU. Both Epperson and Batchelor have impressive 10-0 records and have been coming on strong in their recent matches.

Other starters for BYU will be Raim Escalante (123), Russ McMeans (137), Judd Humphreys (15), Howard Hall (152), Joe Lyman (177), and Bob Christensen, heavyweight.

ARIZONA STANDOUT

Arizona State will be counting heavily on Glenn McMinn, defending WAC champ in the 123-lb. class. Another standout on the Sun Devils squad is Curley Culp, who is remembered by many BYU football fans. Culp, a 250-pounder, was by far the biggest lineman on the field when Arizona State defeated BYU at fall. He's undefeated this season and will wrestle Christensen in a final match.

CHESS, CHECKERS ENTRIES

Entries are being accepted for intramural competition in chess and checkers. Applications are available in the Intramurals Office, 112 Richards Physical Education Bldg. and are due Friday, Feb. 17.

Danielson To Run In 'Baxter Mile'

by Sponse Milne
Universe Sportswriter

Tim Danielson, recently voted Prep Athlete of the Year for 1984 by Track and Field News, will carry the BYU colors into indoor track action this weekend.

He has been invited to compete in the Baxter Mile event of the New York Athletic Club Games in Madison Square Garden.

HIGH PRESTIGE

The Games, traditionally one of the most prestigious of the indoor meets, usually presents the stiffest competition on the indoor circuit, with the exception of the National AAU Indoor Championship.

Swimmers To Arizona; Drub ISU

by Matthew Morris
Universe Sportswriter

The BYU swimmers added win number 13 to their undefeated season in a meet hastily scheduled against Idaho State University Wednesday evening.

The meet, won 84-22 by BYU, was a light workout for the Cougars, who held their regular 6:30 practice that morning.

The Cougars go south this weekend to face conference foes Arizona and Arizona State.

ASU, the stronger of the two foes, hosts the Cougar swimmers Friday evening, and Saturday the Arizona Wildcats tangle with BYU at Tucson.

DUO MISSING

The Cougar swimmers are expected to get a run for their money in cactus country, since the traveling squad will be without Steve Schoeter and Glen Yamashita.

BYU stars Pete Feierabend, Dave Vanderhsaf, and Jess Allen will fill the gaps.

Reinhard Funck is expected to take a crack at the conference record he holds in the 100-yard freestyle.

Pete Feierabend should have the closest race in the 200-yard freestyle; Bill Wood of ASU is expected to make the race a judge's decision, if not a photo-finish.

TOUGH FOES

Ron Burton and Dennis Meyring, holding second and third best times in the Western Athletic Conference for the 200-yard butterfly, should also have tough competition. Jim Rang of Arizona State is less than a second behind Meyring's best clocking. Burton is a BYU transfer from Foothill Junior College in California.

Arizona is a team with depth, though the Cats have no standouts. Their depth is evidenced by a 45-39 win over Arizona State.

BYU's next meets will be at home next Friday and Saturday against Utah State and Air Force

The Baxter Mile is the most widely-known portion of the Garden program, and one of the high points of the indoor season. The entrance to this event traditionally comprises the "Who's Who of America Milers."

ANOTHER INVITE

Danielson was invited to compete in the mile at the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet last weekend in New York, but was forced to remain at home by illness.

The other team members will be remaining at home to further prepare for the outdoor season. They will be resting up after making a very strong showing at the annual WAC Indoor Championships last weekend in Albuquerque.

M-Men Champ: BYU 47th

With two Utah Valley cage warriors on the court before the hall, the 47th Ward won the Zone 22 College Division M-M basketball tournament Tuesday by downing the BYU 47th Ward, 70-47 in the Richards Physical Education Bldg.

Don Hatch, a former star at BYU High was high point man for the game with 27 points. Next in line for scoring honors was Kirby McMaster an ex-fresh star for BYU. McMaster meshed 22.

The 47th Ward squad started out as though it were going to run the losers off the court before the hall, however, the 47th came back to close the gap to 18-17 behind the shooting of Walker Bills, John Connolly and J. M. Dalton.

Hatch really started to zero in during the third period, and the 47th never looked back after the intermission.

Dalton was high for the losers with 11 points. Connolly and Kelly Crozier each had 10.

47th will now go to the All-Church Tournament, which starts Monday in Salt Lake City.

Executive Lecture, Feb. 20...

PBA Business Scope Broadening

its new name, the Professional Business Association's new program will broaden its scope by including students in the College of Business and especially of the Fundamentals division to participate in PBA's activities. The Fundamentals Division is co-sponsoring lectures, seminars, and building foundations of understanding in business activities.

The executive lecture program is to expose renowned business leaders to BYU," said Richard PBA president.

TOP LECTURERS

will make all preparations for the lectures by such business leaders as William D. Dobson, President of General Milk Co.; F. Grigg, president Ore-Ida; S. Evans, vice president, C. Penney Co.; and Jack Little, director of marketing, J. J. Little Bank, Chicago.

Lectures are held in the Johnson Auditorium, at 4 p.m. to launch the spring semester series, Feb. 20.

Students signing up for the Executive Lecture program receive college credit for attending any of the ten lectures.

NORMAL DISCUSSIONS

Membership in the PBA entitles members an informal round discussion with the visiting speakers.

PBA, which was formerly Business Management Association, is a nationally recognized organization composed of outstanding students from all areas of the world who are interested in the business world at the executive level. Dean Weldon J. Taylor, a junior in Business Management.

The program is not just confined to Business Management majors, but anyone interested in the business field," clarified Dean Weldon Taylor.

Once a month, PBA is held by four officers and a ten-member board of directors. It prescribes a membership of 300 members mentioned two purposes: "To acquaint its members to the problems, plans and successes of today's business world and to develop a stronger tie between the business world and today's college graduates."

The association has also incorporated an international flare in their agenda by including AISEC. "AISEC" is an international exchange program which allows PBA to send outstanding students abroad for summer work in international business corporations, in exchange for foreign students being allowed to work in top U.S. corporations," stated AISEC president, Robert Stephens.

LOCAL LECTURERS

PBA, which also sponsors panels and lectures provided by local prominent businessmen, helps to find summer employment in the type of business which interests the individual member.

PBA Adviser, Charles M. Cox, emphasized the advantage of "rubbing shoulders" with successful professional business leaders.

"I am proud of the improvements I have seen in the effectiveness of the PBA," continued Cox. "The association provides students with opportunities to build and maintain a program of their own," stressed Dean Weldon Taylor.

University Chorus, BYU's largest singing organization, recently elected student officers for spring semester. Students elected were: Chuck Borough, Pres., Vivian Gilbert, Vice Pres., Joel Hansen, Treasurer, Elaine Bower, Social Chairman, Bob Thomas and Wayne Marler, Publicity Chairman.

The Chorus, directed by Professor Brandt Curtis, is composed of 100 students singing eight-part harmony. Several performances are planned for this semester, the first being in the Devotional Assembly, Feb. 21. Also planned is a spring concert, on April 14.

Professor Curtis is directing the Chorus for the first time, observed, "The students have a lot of enthusiasm and desire to work. They are not necessarily music majors, and have varied levels of musical ability. Because of this, I enjoy working with them because it offers the challenge of welding them into a performing group."

Why become an engineer at Garrett-AiResearch? You'll have to work harder and use more of your knowledge than engineers at most other companies.

If you're our kind of engineer, you have some very definite ideas about your career.

For example:

You've worked hard to get a good education. Now you want to put it to work in the best way possible.

You will never be satisfied with run-of-the-mill assignments. You demand exciting, challenging projects.

You not only accept individual responsibility — you insist upon it.

Does that sound like you? Then AiResearch is your cup of tea.

Our business is mainly in sophisticated aerospace systems and subsystems.

Here, research, design, and development lead to production of actual hardware.

That means you have the opportunity to start with a customer's problem and see it through to a system that will get the job done.

The product lines at AiResearch, Los Angeles Division, are environmental systems, flight information and controls systems, heat transfer systems, secondary power generator systems for missiles and space, electrical systems, and specialized industrial systems.

In each category AiResearch employs three kinds of engineers.

Preliminary design engineers do the analytical and theoretical work, then write proposals.

Design engineers do the layouts; turn an idea into a product.

Developmental engineers are responsible for making hardware out of concepts.

Whichever field fits you best, we can guarantee you this: you can go as far and fast as your talents can carry you. You can make as much money as any engineer in a comparable spot — anywhere. And of course, at AiResearch, you'll get all the plus benefits a top company offers.

Our engineering staff is smaller than comparable companies. This spells opportunity. It gives a man who wants to make a mark plenty of elbow room to expand. And while he's doing it he's working with, and learning from, some of the real pros in the field.

If the AiResearch story sounds like opportunity speaking to you — don't fail to contact AiResearch, Los Angeles, or see our representative when he comes to your campus.

We'll be happy to talk to you — about you and your future.

And put this in the back of your mind:

In a field where meeting challenges pays off in rewards...

National Engineering Week To Begin At BYU Monday

Geared to the theme "Engineering for Human Development," the engineering departments of BYU will observe National Engineering Week, Monday through Saturday.

The week will be celebrated with scientific displays open to the public, guest lectures, and awards banquets.

An open house Friday and Saturday will allow the public to tour the Harvey Fletcher Engineering Science Laboratory Building and view projects on display. Maps and directions will guide the viewers from project to project.

Purpose of the displays, according to the student leaders, is to graphically illustrate each professional field to guide future students in the areas of their interest.

Each project will be self explanatory. Students will be on hand to answer questions.

Speaker at the regular weekly

Leader In The Field...

BYU To Assemble High Pressure Data

Establishment of a High Pressure Data Center at BYU for the National Bureau of Standards was announced today by President Ernest L. Wilkinson.

Director of the center is Dr. H. Tracy Hall, first man ever to produce synthetic diamonds in the laboratory. The center was established at BYU because of the University's leadership in the field of high pressure, high temperature research.

Data on high pressure research from all over the world will be assembled and evaluated at the BYU office for the Bureau of Standards. The office will maintain complete bibliographic files relating to all papers ever published on the subject. The collection is key punched and placed on magnetic computer tape for rapid retrieval of information.

PRESSURE SCALE
Another major problem facing the center is the establishing of an accurate determination of the high pressure scale which would be accepted by all researchers, according to Leo Merrill, Dr. Hall's colleague in the project.

A great deal of correspondence is carried on with all of the major high pressure laboratories throughout the world to keep up to date with current research. Many requests are received for information from the file which is the most complete of its kind in the world. The center also provides for translation of papers written in foreign languages.

An additional study will be the evaluation of temperatures in high pressure environment. The center hopes to be able to supply scientists with information they need on melting points, solid phase transitions, magnetic properties, optical properties, x-ray structures of materials, and thermodynamic data and properties of materials at high pressure.

The research pioneered by Dr. Hall at BYU now has spread to hundreds of laboratories all over the world. Dr. Hall has traveled to Europe several times to advise foreign nations.

LATEST MACHINE
The latest machine developed by Dr. Hall at BYU is the Tetrahedral X-ray Diffraction Press, which uses a team of X-rays to probe matter while it is subjected to very high temperatures and pressure.

Producing pressures of 3,000,000 pounds simultaneously with temperatures of 10,000 degrees, Dr. Hall and his associates have approached the conditions inside the earth and the stars, repacking the atoms to create materials which are unknown in nature.

Applications are now available to Eugene W. Banks, Publicity Chairman.

The purpose of the Belle of the Y contest is to find the ideal girl at BYU based on her versatility and excellence in several areas of competition. Banks said.

He added that the candidates receive points for their performance in the areas of arts and crafts, cake baking, dance, culture, talent, popularity, beauty, poise, and personality.

In order to select the Belle, these points will be cumulated at the completion of all events. The outcome of a single event will not determine the entire contest, therefore most BYU coeds are within distance of attaining the crown," Banks concluded.

Candidates must be carrying 10 or more semester hours and have a cumulative grade point average of 2.5. They cannot be in any form of University probation, according to Banks.

The title of Dobson's lecture will be "Management of Multinational Companies."

Dobson graduated in 1928 from Washington University in St. Louis, Mo. After six years employment, he returned to Harvard and received his MBA in 1935.

By bringing prominent business leaders to the BYU campus, the Executive Lectures help students gain some insight and exposure to current trends in the modern business world.

One credit hour will be given for each of two terms (Bus. Mgt. 460, 461). A class fee goes to pay for a bound volume of the speeches, to be mailed participants following the concluding lecture. Questions regarding the program will be answered by Howard W. Barnes, 287 Kirtland Bldg., chairman of the series.

progress, hard work, sacrifice, courage and even, quite ironically, peace. The Nazi Party's hopes for the youth of Germany are also stressed, and many of the scenes of the Hitler youth remind one of a Boy Scout encampment. Yet there are other scenes that are frightening in their implications for that same German youth. Hitler emerges from the film as
